

Reinvention with Generative AI: CalPERS

Eyal Darmon, North American Public Service Data, AI and Generative AI Lead, Managing Director, Accenture

Eyal works with clients across the public sector to help them take advantage of the Generative AI and AI innovations that are transforming the delivery of customer experiences, the organization's workforce, and the enterprise. He leads teams of dedicated strategy, consulting, technology, and operation professionals to design, implement, and deliver Generative AI solutions that can enable public sector organizations to transform their operations and the customer experiences they offer, simplifying and accelerating how residents can access government services. Eyal combines passion and pragmatism to shape innovative solutions that positively impact his clients' customers.